Dear Portfolio Show Visitor,

I have worked towards the dream of becoming a filmmaker my whole life, learning everything I could about it. This included majoring in film but also taking classes such as Essentials of Management and Intro to Sociology to gain insights into the business of film and to improve my storytelling through an understanding of the dynamics that shape people's lives. I put myself out in the world as a freelance photographer and videographer to gain real world experience, practice with technical toolsets, and build interpersonal skills. Thanks to this drive, I now have a well-rounded skill set and a Bachelor's degree in film from Portland State. Throughout my education, I have found a deep love for the production of film and video and am excited to enter the professional world.

We all have hardships, struggles, and challenges and I am no stranger to these things. But when a problem comes up, I don't just sit back and try to relax. Instead, I take on the challenge with optimism, patience, and the knowledge that I won't give up until I find a solution. This approach has allowed me to see the many angles of an issue and has informed the way I deal with people. The question that you might be asking is how does that help you? When I work in service to someone else's vision, I put my full passion towards it as if it were my own dream. I put in my best effort, always listening carefully to feedback and suggestions knowing that collaboration brings quality results.

I would love to be a part of your team, helping you to advance your goals. I hope that we can speak soon to see if we are a good fit to work together. Thank you for visiting the portfolio site.

Sincerely,

Matthew Eugene Hunsucker
